NEW CALL: EXPERT WORKSHOP 'MEASURING JOB QUALITY: NEW DATA AND METHODS'

18-20 September 2019, CEET-CNAM (Noisy Le Grand, Paris, France)

The expert workshop will discuss the topics of job quality, quality of work and quality of working life with a special emphasis on how to overcome the challenges related to the measurement of these multidimensional concepts. The workshop aims to bring together an interdisciplinary audience interested in these themes from both a conceptual perspective and a methodological perspective. In addition, this workshop aims to explore novel data solutions to enhance the measurement of job quality, quality of work and quality of working life such as data fusion or web-based data sources. The organising committee welcomes proposals for workshop presentations. The workshop welcomes researchers as well as practitioners with a strong interest and experience in the measurement of job quality, quality of work and quality of working life, in statistical matching and in multidimensional indicators.

Deadline for applications: 1 July 2019

UPCOMING EVENT: SECOND SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP 'EU REFERENCE BUDGETS PLATFORM'

26-27 September 2019, University of Antwerp (Belgium)

Reference budgets are illustrative priced baskets of goods and services that represent a given living standard. Often they refer to the minimum required resources that people need in order to participate adequately in society. Academic research on the development of reference budgets demonstrates high valorisation potentials, both in the field of fundamental and applied research. Practice highlights the added-value of reference budgets for policymakers, public authorities, NGOs and citizens.

The second meeting of this EU Platform brings together researchers and stakeholders working on reference budgets across Europe. For two days, we will exchange recent activities, projects and publications by partners and cooperating organisations. The main objective is to discuss methodological challenges and best practices with regard to the development and applications of national and international reference budget research.

THIRD INGRID-2 GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING TOOK PLACE

16-17 May 2019, HIVA-KU Leuven (Belgium)

During this meeting, all consortium members joined together at HIVA-KU Leuven to discuss the current state-of-affairs regarding the project. Bart Vanhercke (OSE) was invited to open the General Assembly with a presentation on the recent OSE publication 'Social policy in the EU: state of play and looking ahead' in which he addressed the changing narrative on the social dimension of the EU as well as some key issues on the social agenda. Later, updated information was provided regarding the project status, and specific attention was paid to work packages on dissemination, transnational access, and events. In addition, multiple interactive sessions were foreseen in which the consortium members presented research done in the framework of InGRID-2 and there was room for discussion considering relevant steps forward. The next General Assembly meeting will take place in June 2020.
